

Midna now known as Juno

She is doing very well. She is the love of my life. We have changed barns and the place we are now is perfect, Juno is very settled and happy. She has a paddock buddy called Tiny and many other fence friends. She also has large grass fields which she loves passing the time on with Tiny.

We have continued to work on building trust through groundwork exercises and games. Juno is very responsive and seems to really enjoy the interaction with me. She is very clever and even when nervous she never steps wrong.

On May 20 she had a saddle on her back for the first time and she did not bat an eye. Such a lovely girl! I am so proud of her.

We will continue to work together and when we are ready we will start to enjoy the many trails at Paradise Ranch.

I will keep you posted on her progress, Catherine
